MISSOURI FOR SEES SCANDAL IN PRESIDENCY

PENDERGAST GANG IS ASSAILED BY REP. SLAUGHTER

Tulsa, Okla., July 10 (P)—Former Rep. Roger C. Slaughter, Missouri Democrat whom President Truman helped to defeat for nomination last year, charged today "scandal threatens" the presidency, a statement the President said left him unworried.

Slaughter, speaking before the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce's public affairs forum, assailed the Pendergast Democratic organization of Kansas City and declared Mr. Truman's request of it for help in the 1946 Democratic primary was "the public admission of a partnership which has brought the presidency into disrepute."

The President's reaction to Slaughter's remarks came at his Washington press conference. He said he considered the source of the speech and added it didn't worry him any.

Merely Misled
Slaughter said he considered the President "personally an honest and honorable man, but that like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

After he was informed of the President's comment on the statement in his prepared text, the former congressman issued this statement to a reporter:

"If the President is not worried he is in different state of mind from hundreds of Democratic candidates who will be running for office in 1948. Through fault of their own they will be forced to carry the load of stolen ballots and blasted vault doors, all occurring as the aftermath of an election where Mr. Truman admitted he had enlisted the aid of the Pendergast machine."

"A small boy walking by a graveyard at midnight is not worried, but his teeth chatter just the same."

Ballot Thefts Cited

In his address, Slaughter also referred to the theft of ballot boxes from the Kansas City election commissioners' vault after the return of a number of indictments alleging vote fraud in the 1946 primary. He called it "a sordid tale, and a perfect example not only of the cupidity but of stupidity of city machines."

He mentioned the Kansas City vote fraud convictions which followed the 1936 election, and said the Pendergast organization "finally fell of its own weight" but "like the Phoenix, it managed to arise from the ashes—helped in part, by a friendly national administration."

Recalling that "a great many of those convicted had been pardoned by the White House," Slaughter added that "numerous ones had made application for such pardons under the Roosevelt administration, but so far as I knew were without exception turned down."

Of the President's intervention in the campaign which resulted in the nomination of Slaughter's Truman-backed rival, he commented, "I have never said, nor have I felt that the President was without right to take such a position."

"Experience has shown that presidents who dabble in local politics invariably suffer thereby x x x."

Story Of Suspect Checked In Detroit Swamp Killing Case

Detroit, July 10 (P)—Wayne County Prosecutor James McNally said today that George Coapman, 31, adding to a confession in the death of 19-year-old Richard Schweitzer, admitted he strangled the youth with a belt before leaving him in an Oakland county swamp.

The new details were given after Coapman and police officers visited the swamp where Schweitzer's decomposed body was found, McNally said. Earlier, Coapman, a draftsman, was quoted as using his fists only in an argument with Schweitzer.

Earlier the prosecutor had asked that Coapman's arraignment on extortion charges, scheduled today before Judge George Murphy, be postponed.

McNally said he believed Coapman had not told the complete story of Schweitzer's death and the alleged extortion. He quoted Coapman as saying the extortion notes written to Mrs. Marie Schweitzer, the youth's mother, "were strictly an afterthought."

"I wrote the first one June 3, after I was pretty certain her son was dead," the prosecutor quoted the draftsman as saying. He was arrested a month ago when police set a trap in which Mrs. Schweitzer placed a bag of bogus bills in reply to a note that she pay $8,000 for the return of her son.

After 10 hours of continuous questioning last night, McNally said Coapman admitted fighting with his youthful companion in an automobile the night of May 10, following an argument over $10 he said Schweitzer owed him and some insults against Coapman's girl friend.

In his confession Coapman related how he had pursued Schweitzer along a road, knocked him unconscious and rolled his body into a swamp near Lake Orion, Prosecutor McNally declared.

The youth's body was found last Saturday by berry pickers, while Coapman, an ex-marine, was still in police custody under $25,000 bond on the extortion warrant to which he had entered a guilty plea.

WAR CONTRACT FRAUDS BARED

At Least 19 Accused Of Cheating Government Out Of $2,000,000

Washington, July 10 (P)—Comptroller General Lindsay Warren accused "at least" 19 war contractors today of frauds running "well in excess" of $2,000,000 in contract settlements with the government. He named no names.

In a report filed with Congress, he also criticized the office of contract settlement for "profligate spending" and declared "some officers and employees" of the government have been guilty of "feathering their nests" in negotiating settlements with war contractors.

Warren's statement then described briefly the case of the 19 contractors. He did not name them, nor indicate what materials they manufactured. Estimated losses to the government on the 107 cases ran as high as $400,000.

Also, he added, "evidence has been found which appears to warrant a reasonable belief that at least 57 additional settlements—involving 61 contracts of 15 war contractors—were induced by fraud."

"A perfect example of the low standards so prevalent has been the feathering of nests" by some officers and employees of the government who thus were given the opportunity to curry favor with the contractors," he quoted.

"Quite by accident, the general accounting office has discovered certain war and Navy officers and employees engaged on termination settlements went to work immediately thereafter with the very war contractors on whose termination claims they had worked."

Telephone Workers Vote To Join CIO

New York, July 10 (P)—John J. Moran, president of the American Union of Telephone Workers (AUTW), announced tonight the independent union's 22,000 members in 42 states had voted five to three to affiliate with the new CIO Telephone Workers Organizing committee (TWOC).

Describing the vote in the 45-day secret balloting as marking "the beginning of the end of isolationist amateurism in telephone labor," Moran said in a statement he would "immediately apply for affiliation in TWOC-CIO as instructed by terms of the ballot."

Missing Man In Cave Turns Out To Be Hoax

BY ALLAN FISHER

New York, July 10 (P)—John T. (Tuck) Hurn, the "missing" ex-GI for whom police and volunteers had spent a fruitless week searching a water filled cave in Tennessee, ruefully admitted today his disappearance had been a publicity hoax which left him feeling "like the boy who got the bear by the tail."

Hurn was supposed to have become lost July 1 in Nickajack cave at Shellmound, Tenn.

The 37-year-old Hurn, who with his brother is co-owner of the cave, was found here at the home of his sister and said in an interview:

"Well, I got a lot of advertising out of it. But I never thought it would be this big. I swear I didn't know all those people would be that interested in me."

Hurn said that on July 1 his brother Hollis took him into the cave and left him so that John could search for a second opening which the brothers believed existed.

After his brother left, John said, he put on a life jacket, slipped into the water, and with the aid of a flashlight groped his way along a wall until he emerged from the cave the way he had entered.

A friend, whom he refused to identify beyond saying he was an old Army pal, met him at the entrance by prearrangement and drove him to Birmingham where he caught a train for New York early July 2.

When he reached New York, John added, he went to the home of a friend where he has been staying.

OFFICER NAMED IN MUSCLE MOB

Chicago Negro Detective Linked To Torture In Sugar Stamp Deal

Chicago, July 10 (P)—A Negro police detective surrendered to federal marshals today after prosecutors said a man held in New York named him as a member of a gang which tried to muscle in on the proceeds of alleged illicit sugar stamp dealings.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, the confidence detail detective, Ray Miller, 38, pleaded innocent to charges of threatening, forcing and offering money to another man to prevent him from testifying before a federal grand jury and to perjurying himself before the jury.

Bond of $2,500 was set by the commissioner who continued the hearing July 24. On learning of Miller's surrender, Detective Chief Walter Storms stripped the officer of his badge.

Otto Kerner Jr., United States attorney, said that Miller perjured by telling the February grand jury that he did not know why three Chicago Negroes seized in Grand Rapids, Mich., while torturing another man had borrowed Miller's automobile to make the trip there.

The prosecutor said, however, that one of the men who drove there, Willie Martin, Negro, had been seized in New York and told federal investigators that Miller had "full knowledge" of the use of his automobile and that he expected to share in the proceeds of a torture robbery.

While in New York he has whiled away the time at ball games and motion pictures.

Said John Hurn's wife, who'd hovered with their three small children at the cave's entrance: "This is a terrible thing to happen. I'll be glad to talk it over with him when he gets back."

Farmers Warned To Map Plans For Possible Slump

East Lansing, July 10 (P)—Farmers will be the first to feel the pinch in the event of a recession, Lauren H. Brown of the Farm Management department of Michigan State College warned today.

"Farmers should start mapping their plans now for a possible slump," said Brown. "As farm prices start leveling off, farm expenses have a tendency to keep rising. This seems to be the stage we are at now."

Brown recommended that farmers keep inventories at a reasonably low level and organize for the most efficient operation. He also suggested that they refrain from expansion which calls for going into debt and avoid speculative enterprises.

"Prices are high now and indications are that they will remain high for several months," said the farm expert. "But if predictions of many economists are correct we are due for a mild recession."

Son Of Gus Dorais Drowns In Resort Lake Near Gaylord

East Lansing, Mich., July 10 (P)—State police reported that David Dean Dorais, son of Charles (Gus) Dorais, coach of the Detroit Lions professional football team, drowned this afternoon in Tecumseh Lake in Otsego county.

Gaylord state police said the boy, 13, was swimming in the lake with his cousin, William McCabe, 15, of Davenport, Ia.

The two boys started to swim to a raft, but Dorais apparently tired and started to go under. His cousin tried to hold him up, but failed.

Officers said William managed to hang on to his cousin long enough to struggle to the ladder of the raft, but as he hoisted himself up, he lost his grip and the two boys sank from sight. The elder Dorais' cottage on Tecumseh Lake, about five miles from Gaylord.

Speaker Of House Put Next In Line To Be President

Washington, July 10 (P)—Congress sent a bill to President Truman today which would make a Republican his successor if the president fails to finish his present term.

But both Democrats and Republicans said they hope Mr. Truman continues in good health.

The legislation, passed today by a 365-11 House vote, puts the speaker of the House, now a Republican, next in line for the presidency if the offices of president and vice-president both become vacant. The Senate passed the bill June 27.

Presidential approval of the measure is considered certain, since Mr. Truman asked for it in 1945 and again this year.

LEWIS SPEEDY IN HARD COAL MINERS RAISE

ANTHRACITE GROUP GETS INCREASE OF $1.20 A DAY

BY NORMAN WALKER

Washington, July 10 (P)—Hard coal miners tonight won the same 1.20 per day increase in take home pay John L. Lewis had obtained for his soft coal men.

It will amount to 17.1 cents an hour for the anthracite workers, who work a seven-hour day.

The soft coal miners got the same take home increase but a reduction in their working day from nine hours to eight with no pay cut, plus a one-half-hour paid lunch period made their increase average 44½ cents an hour.

Completion of the agreement covering the 75,000 anthracite miners was announced by the United Mine Workers union late in the day.

In addition, it said the new anthracite agreement gives that industry the same increased tonnage levy—from 5 to 10 cents a ton—for the union's health and welfare fund.

Lewis, president of the UMW, announced that the hard coal pact had been agreed upon without even going through the formality of exercising a 30-day contract reopening.

Living Costs Affected
The hard coal industry and Lewis simply sat down, without exercising the reopening provision, and amended their existing contract to include the increased terms.

Thus the 75,000 hard coal miners represented by Lewis' AFL-United Mine Workers union obtained the same record wage increase Lewis won in the soft coal industry for 400,000 other miners.

The anthracite mining industry is confined principally to eastern Pennsylvania.

A study of the new soft coal contract's potential effect on living costs went to President Truman today and was ticketed for cabinet discussion tomorrow.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of Mr. Truman's three-man council of economic advisers, presented a mid-year report to the President. Nourse told reporters it contains a study of the possible influence the 44½ cent hourly wage raise in the bituminous industry may have on the national economic picture.

The soft coal contract signed by more than 90 per cent of that industry gives the 400,000 bituminous miners their highest wage in history, a daily pay of $13.05.

Taft Disagrees
Meantime in Congress Senator Taft (R-Ohio) disagreed with his co-author of the new labor law, Rep. Hartley (R-N.J.), over the latter's contention that soft coal operators who signed the soft coal contract have become liable to criminal prosecution.

Hartley had contended that under the new law only union dues may be withheld from workers' paychecks. He said that the operators in agreeing to allow the withholding of union assessments and initiation fees ran against a ban in the law carrying $10,000 fine and a year in jail as the penalty.

Taft told reporters the soft coal operators who signed up with Lewis may have violated the new law in this respect but he termed it "only a minor item."

"As far as the employer is concerned," Taft said, "it is up to him to protect himself when he makes a contract. They (employers) are free to make any contract they wish to make."

Communist Plans For Civil War In Greece Are Foiled

Athens, July 10 (P)—Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas declared today the government's sudden crackdown on leftists had foiled entirely plans by 50,000 to 60,000 Communist followers to foment civil war in Athens and Piraeus.

Scattered arrests continued today in the wholesale roundup of leftists launched yesterday. Zervas said nearly 3,000 were seized. A charge that the arrests were ordered by the United States was made by the Communist newspaper Rizospastis and the left wing Ellintheria Ellada.

DOGS COME BACK

Santa Clara, Calif., July 10 (P)—Poundmaster Jim Johnson says he believes he has attained a rare success in his work.

While he was away on a holiday all the dogs escaped from the pound. Upon his return, he insists, every dog was outside wagging his tail and waiting for Johnson to let them in.

Czechs Stay Away From Paris Talks; Afraid Of Moscow

BY JAMES M. LONG

Prague, July 10 (P)—Czechoslovakia tonight backed down from a decision to attend the Paris conference on the Marshall plan. The cabinet acted upon telephoned instructions from Communist Premier Klement Gottwald in Moscow.

The Czechs gave as their reason that participation in the conference might be construed as an action against the Soviet Union.

The Czech withdrawal made it virtually certain that no nation in the Soviet orbit in eastern Europe would attend the conference at its opening Saturday.

The cabinet decision was made when Premier Gottwald, telephoned from Moscow where he was received last night by Premier Stalin.

Hungary announced today that she would not attend. A reliable Hungarian informant said tonight in Budapest that warnings by Communist leaders of Russian reprisals induced the Hungarian government to reject the invitation.

The only other nation in the Soviet sphere remaining to be heard from was Finland, but her participation appeared highly doubtful.

The French foreign ministry said in Paris that refusals had been received from six nations, all of them within the Russian sphere. They were Poland, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Formal acceptances were received from 14 states—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, The Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, and Turkey.

The conference is intended to set up committees which will survey Europe's capabilities and needs and then report to the United States just where that country can assist Europe.

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, July 10 (P)—American diplomatic officials said tonight Czechoslovakia's decision not to attend the Paris economic conference is the "crudest demonstration, yet" of Soviet control over the governments of eastern Europe.

In spite of the Czech withdrawal, officials were determined to go through with the Marshall plan for European recovery—of which the Paris conference, called to draft an international economic program, is the first essential step.

President Truman told a news conference that if it becomes necessary, Congress will be called back to Washington next fall for a special session on the Marshall plan.

The decision of the Czech government not to attend the Paris meeting—which leaves the conference strictly a western European affair—reverses its previous recent.

That reversal emphatically the bitter opposition to the Marshall plan which Russian Foreign Minister Molotov expressed when he rejected cooperation with Britain and France in the big three meeting at Paris two weeks ago.

Some authorities say the Kremlin's next major move may be made through Communist parties in western Europe.

In France and Italy the Communists are strong enough to cause considerable trouble.

But prevailing opinion at the state department is that they could not force the Italian and French governments to boycott the conference.

WINDUP IS DULL IN LEGISLATURE

Scanty Quorum Expected For Final Sessions In Lansing

Lansing, July 10 (P)—The Michigan legislature returns to its desks tomorrow for two brief sessions expected to be dull and routine.

The sessions Friday and Saturday are the regular sine die adjournment meetings.

Senate circles predicted there would be little more than a quorum in the upper chamber, and less than a quorum was expected in the House.

That situation headed off any talk of overriding any of Governor Sigler's bill vetoes.

The executive office said it would submit the names of 10 appointees to the Senate for confirmation if that chamber has a quorum.

The lawmakers will recess the 1947 session finally at noon Saturday.

They are expected to meet not more than two hours both Friday and Saturday.

Cleaner Hose Burns Ann Arbor Boy, 5

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 10 (P)—Five-year-old James Knight suffered serious acid burns today when he picked up a hose being used to clean out a restaurant refrigerator and put it in his mouth.

The child found the hose sticking out the door of a restaurant near his home. Refrigerator gas in the hose turned to acid in the boy's mouth, searing his mouth, throat and lungs.

Attendants at St. Joseph Mercy hospital reported his condition serious.

TRUMAN GIVES WARNING, IRKS GOP SENATORS

VOTES ROUNDED UP TO OVERRIDE THE WHITE HOUSE

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, July 10 (P)—President let Congress know today that he intends to veto the new $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill, just as he vetoed the last one.

He also said he will call a special session of Congress, if necessary, to act on the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Even before Congress has completed action on the new tax-slashing measure, Mr. Truman told a news conference that he sees no reason why he should change his attitude.

He vetoed the original measure last month, saying it was the "wrong kind" of tax reduction "at the wrong time."

And today he made it clear that he does not consider next Jan. 1 will be the right time to cut the nation's income burden with the same bill. That is the only difference between the two measures. The original bill made the effective date July 1.

Salient points of the conference:

1. Mr. Truman said he is not worried about an assertion by former Rep. Roger C. Slaughter (D-Mo) that a "scandal threatens" the White House and will become an issue in the 1948 presidential campaign. He said he considered the source of the remarks.

2. He may call Congress back, after the lawmakers adjourn probably around July 26, for an extra session to speed Secretary of State Marshall's European recovery plan—if necessary.

3. He has no travel plans at this time, although Democratic leaders have been urging him to make a cross-country swing.

4. He is actively behind a flood control program for the whole Mississippi Valley and also supports the Missouri Valley Authority plan, even if, as a reporter remarked, the people "out in Missouri" don't think he does.

5. He has no comment on the coal-wage settlement between John L. Lewis and the operators because, he said, that is a matter between the miners and the owners.

REPUBLICANS AROUSED

Washington, July 10 (P)—Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) led aroused Republicans today in declaring that President Truman committed "an impropriety" in giving advance notice that he will veto the new $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill even before it passes the Senate.

Millikin, chairman of the Senate finance committee and floor manager for the measure, told reporters this is the first time he ever heard of a president vetoing a bill in advance.

And he remarked tartly that Congress, not the president, still has constitutional control of the government's pursestrings.

The Republican drive picked up strength as five Democratic members announced they will vote to override the veto. These were Senators Byrd (Va.), Edwin C. Johnson (Colo.), Stewart (Tenn.), George (Ga.) and McCarran (Nev.).

Prospects for an earlier Senate vote than expected—possibly late tomorrow or Saturday—developed late in the day when Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told newsmen he has decided to drop his fight for a substitute bill. His measure would raise taxpayers' exemptions from $500 to $600 and cut 4 percent off each surtax rate.

Skip Township Tax Rate Because Of Ample Funds; Schools Given Millage

Because of the lush condition of the treasuries in several Delta county townships, and ample funds in other townships, the county tax allocation commission in meeting Wednesday night did not allocate even a fraction of a mill of local tax for township government purposes in the coming year.

Last year only three townships were allocated millage rates.

Since the passage of the sales tax redistribution amendment last fall the financial conditions of the townships is the best of any governmental unit in the county. Besides receiving a slice of the sales tax, the townships have other major sources of revenue including the liquor license tax and the intangibles tax.

Wells Residents See Flying Disks

Additional witnesses to the mysterious flying disks, which have the entire nation gazing skyward, were numerous residents of Wells who saw the flying saucers Wednesday night from 10:55 'til past 12:30. The saucers traveled between St. Cyr's, 18 Highland avenue, and the Alphonse Gardner residence, which is across the street from St. Cyr's.

They were described as being about three feet in diameter and traveling very fast at the height that planes generally fly. Reports were that the two disks seemed to be luminous.

Among the witnesses to the Wednesday night phenomena were Mr. and Mrs. Harry St. Cyr, and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bernard, Stephenson avenue, who were visiting the St. Cyr's; Miss Dora Krasick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Way, Miss Doris Westphal of Sparta, Wis., a friend of Mrs. Way; and Mrs. Ruby Casey, William Couchan and David King who were returning from a fishing trip.

With VA Approval, Home Town Medical Care Given To Vets

Prior authorization from the Veterans Administration must be obtained by World War II veterans in order to receive "home-town" medical or dental care at government expense, officials at the VA's U. P. office in Escanaba emphasized yesterday.

VA said numerous veterans have neglected to obtain the necessary authorization before starting treatments. Without prior approval of VA physicians and dentists rendering the treatment cannot be reimbursed for their services. The only exception is where it is established that emergency treatment was required.

Both the veteran and the physician, or dentist, should determine that prior authorization has been given by VA.

Contracts between VA and the medical and dental associations in each of the three states provide that designated physicians and dentists may render treatment in service-connected cases when treatment in a VA installation is not feasibly available.

U. P. veterans entitled to medical or dental care for service-connected disabilities should apply for VA approval at their nearest VA office.

On an average day about 3,500, 000 Americans are disabled because of illness.

Approximately 8,800 graduates of West Point saw active service during World War II.

Nationwide Airlines Does Good Business

Houghton, Mich.—Nationwide Airlines plane, the Lockheed Twin Motor plane on regular scheduled flight, arrived at the Houghton Sands airport yesterday at 12:40 with a capacity load of passengers, and departed at 2 p. m. with a full load of passengers bound for Lansing and Detroit.

Because the service is proving so popular, Nationwide Airlines have changed their schedule for this coming week end to accommodate more passengers. Instead of running two round trips each day with the Lockheed it will make one round trip each day with a Deluxe 31 passenger Douglas DC-3.

Hanna Officials Tour Iron River On Annual Inspection

Iron River—High officials from the Cleveland office of the M. A. Hanna company, which operates the Hanna mines, were here yesterday and today on an annual inspection tour.

They are G. M. Humphrey, president; J. H. Thompson, vice-president; and H. L. Pierce, executive officer. Accompanying them was Russell C. Fish of Duluth, general manager of mine operations for the company. Fish was formerly chief engineer for the company here.

E. E. Hunner, of Duluth former manager and now executive consultant, also was here. They conferred here with G. M. Cannon, former Michigan manager who also is in an executive consulting capacity here, and S. E. Quayle, Michigan manager.

Other men here with the mining officials were M. C. Lake, of San

U. P. Farmers Like New Oat Variety

Upper Michigan farmers' demands for Bond Cross oats and improved strains of this hybrid has resulted in further experimental tests being conducted at the Chatham Experiment station.

Results of these tests along with experiments with spring wheat, barley and corn, will be explained at the annual Farmers' Day program on Friday, August 8 at the Chatham station.

J. G. Wells, Jr., superintendent of the station, says the Upper Peninsula farmers are not waiting for the naming or official making of a variety of the new oat. Its high yield, heavy straw and all-around quality causes farmers to buy every available pound of the seed for planting.

A survey by county agricultural agents in the Upper Peninsula showed approximately half of the oat acreage this year is in Bond Cross or the improvement of this variety now known as Bond Cross Improved. The new Eaton oat, developed by E. E. Down at Michigan State college, is also winning favor with Upper Peninsula growers.

Two new spring wheat varieties are being tested this summer. Arthur R. Wolcott, farm crops and soils specialist at the station, has planted Cadet, a beardless wheat from North Dakota, and Redman, developed by the Canadian Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg, Canada.

Farmers will be able to compare the stands of these oat and wheat varieties at the annual Farmers' Day tours of the field plots. Barley and corn variety tests have also been planted at the station and will be viewed by the visitors. Many of the older varieties, shown in past years, are again in the trials at the sub-station, Wolcott added.

Francisco, consulting geologist and mining engineer, and J. Reiger of Cleveland, with the ore sales department of the Hanna company.

Humphrey and his party planned to leave this afternoon with Fish and Hunner for Duluth and the Minnesota ore ranges.

Reforestation Expanded

ANNOUNCEMENT by the Michigan Department of Conservation that it will resume in the fall of 1948 a large scale reforestation program is welcome news in the timber areas of the state, particularly in the Upper Peninsula. The program announced by the department provides for the planting of 48,000,000 trees by 1954, or approximately 8,000,000 trees a year starting in 1948.

In addition the U. S. Forest Service will continue and perhaps expand its tree planting program during that period. Last year the forest service planted 4,000,000 trees in the Hiawatha and Marquette forests, in addition to whatever plantings it may have made in the Ottawa forest, located in the western end of the Upper Peninsula. This year's plantings will total about 5,000,000 trees in the Hiawatha and Marquette forests.

If one doubts the efficacy of the government tree planting program, it is necessary only to drive through the plantations in the Hiawatha forest that were engaged in a tremendous war effort, the tree planting program was halted. If we are to sustain the forest resources of our area, there is no choice except to expand the reforestation program in the years ahead.

The cutting of timber in Upper Michigan forests was exceptionally heavy during the war years and because we were engaged in a tremendous war effort, the tree planting program was halted. If we are to sustain the forest resources of our area, there is no choice except to expand the reforestation program in the years ahead.

MUCC Law Amended

AMENDMENTS to Michigan's Unemployment law, enacted at the recent session of the legislature, have been approved by Governor Sigler and it is to be hoped that the new law will eliminate some of the injustices that existed in the previous act.

One improvement in the new law that will eliminate some of the chiseling that has been going on in unemployment compensation and provide a greater degree of justice to employers will disqualify a worker for the duration of his unemployment if he leaves his job voluntarily, has been discharged for misconduct or refuses to accept suitable work offered by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

It is surprising how few workers realize that unemployment benefits are paid from a fund created entirely by employers. Many workers confuse the unemployment compensation fund with the old age social security fund, for which workers pay by payroll deduction an amount equal to that paid by employers. The unemployment fund, however, unlike the retirement pension fund, is administered by the state and the fund is created solely by contributions made by employers.

The more workers who are laid off by an employer, the more money that employer is required to pay into the unemployment fund. For that reason, employers have a keen interest in the operation of the unemployment compensation law and a desire to see that it is administered fairly and equitably. Such has not been the case in the past.

If a worker leaves his job voluntarily, or if he is discharged for misconduct, or if he refuses to accept suitable employment offered to him by the MUCC, he certainly can hardly expect a previous employer to pay him for his period of loafing.

Star Chamber Sessions

STAR chamber sessions of local governing bodies, from which the public and press are barred, have been outlawed by recent Pennsylvania legislation, according to a bulletin from the American Municipal Association.

All regular and special meetings of governing bodies in Pennsylvania must now be open to the public. This includes meetings of county commissioners, city councils, township commissioners, township supervisors and school boards. The new law, however, does permit closed executive sessions, but no ordinance, rule, resolution or regulations may be passed at such closed sessions.

The new Pennsylvania law puts in statutory form the common objection to start chamber sessions on the grounds that all public business should be open to the public at all times. Many cities do not hold secret meetings because of this popular disapproval, though an even greater number of councils and school boards still hold closed sessions under some circumstances.

The Press does not believe that every defect in our governmental machinery can be remedied by passing another law. Every one knows that there are too many laws on the statute books now, but the action taken by the Pennsylvania legislature might well be emulated by lawmakers of Michigan and other states.

Confidence in government is what is needed, nowadays. But nothing breeds suspicion and misunderstanding like secrecy in government, and the star chamber session is a good example of what should not be done by public bodies.

They Can't Understand It

"GEORGE WELLER writes from Paris that no Communist, and very few Europeans of any political flavor, can understand why the United States, plagued by strikes and housing and tax troubles, is willing to throw further hundreds of millions of dollars into Europe without asking anything in return," says Publisher John S. Knight in the Akron Beacon Journal.

"Millions of Americans are asking themselves the same question. Everyone knows that Britain is living on American and Canadian dollar loans, and that these dollars are fast running out, like sand out of an hour glass. We have spent between three and four billion dollars in China for economic relief and political prestige, with nothing to show for it. Coastal bases, fixed garrisons and airports remain in Soviet hands. The same experiment, conceded to be a colossal failure in China, is about to be repeated in Greece and Turkey.

"Certainly the people who pay the bills are entitled to know just how, where and why the money is to be spent before they place their approval on a single cent of such staggering appropriations of funds. Our hearts go out to the less fortunate peoples of other lands, but experiences of the immediate past give little hope that these additional gifts will be used effectively for their own best interests," concludes the writer.

"We should never agree to let the Government sign your names to another blank check without knowing all the facts and having our eyes wide open."

Wisconsin Bans Fireworks

ENACTMENT of a law in Wisconsin that will ban private sales and use of fireworks after next January 1 will be beneficial to residents of Michigan as well as to Wisconsin. Although Michigan has had such a law for a number of years, it has been difficult to get complete compliance with the law because of the accessibility of firecrackers and similar fireworks across the state line in Wisconsin.

The sale of fireworks has been legal in Wisconsin and many Upper Peninsula residents purchased their holiday explosives in that state. Although it has been illegal to explode fireworks in Michigan, the practice was all too common. Now that the source of supply in Wisconsin will be dried up before another July 4 holiday rolls around, the effect should be felt in Michigan as well as in Wisconsin.

The new Wisconsin law, like the Michigan law, does not preclude public displays of fireworks. Such displays are permitted under special licenses which are designed to insure proper safeguards.

The Wisconsin ban on fireworks was signed by Governor Rennebohm 48 hours after three residents of the state were each blinded in one eye as the result of the explosion of firecrackers set off by other persons.

GAS IS LIFE BLOOD

(Detroit News)

Short gasoline supply, apparently impending during the season of greatest use of motor vehicles, would be a public burden hard to bear. Much more than has been cited, explaining the situation, should be made public.

Standard Oil of Indiana, furnishing 20 per cent of Detroit's supply, is the one company that has cut its deliveries to filling stations and to trucking concerns. Other companies may do the same, however.

The supply of raw petroleum seems to be adequate. Standard's chief explanation is lack of tank cars and pipeline facilities for moving oil to refineries. But what of the American Petroleum Institute's current statement showing that, somehow, the refineries got enough petroleum last week to make 1,300,000 more gallons of gas than during the same week a year ago?

Though it's a statement denied in the Chicago area, motorists here, as Standard says, may lately have been buying from filling stations 15 to 20 per cent more than they did last year.

There is no occasion to be panicky about it. The blight has struck in only a limited way and, it would seem, should be remediable. For that, a thorough sifting, down to bedrock causes, is required.

What ever became of the other Senator from Ohio?—you know, the one who is more like Harding than Harding was.

READERS' CORNER

Wilmington: Thanks for telling us recently all those interesting facts about the Great Seal of the United States as it appears in the two circles on the reverse (green) side of the dollar bill. Now tell us, please, about the small blue seal over which "Washington, D. C." is printed on the front side of the bill, and translate the words "Thesauri Amer Septentrigi Sili" which appear on the seal.—D. W.

Answer: On September 26, 1778, the Continental Congress passed a resolution to the effect that, "A committee of three be appointed to prepare a seal for the treasury and for the navy." The small seal on the obverse side of bills is the Treasury Department seal. The Latin inscription around the edge is an abbreviation of the Latin sentence "Thesauri Americana Septentrionis Sigillum," meaning "The Seal of the Treasury of North America."

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — Nothing that has happened in a long time has caused so much speculation as John L. Lewis's deal with the big coal operators. As a piece of strategy, it shows Lewis once again in the role of all-powerful manipulator, engineering a bargain affecting the lives of millions of Americans.

The United Mine Workers office solemnly announces that the 200-man policy committee of the union voted unanimously in favor of the terms Lewis had negotiated.

From long experience, the boys know what happens to dissidents and they vote as faithfully as in any organization run by a czar at the top.

There was, of course, no reason why any union man in his right mind would have voted against the contract Lewis had negotiated. While its benefits have been exaggerated, it does give UMW members far more than they had even under government operation.

Perhaps because this is a political town, inevitably speculation turns on the politics behind the Lewis deal. There are those who believe it has important political overtones for 1948 and after.

—LEWIS MAY AID DEWEY—

They link it to a report that is more and more taken to be reliable. That is that Lewis and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York have come to an understanding. Which means that Lewis will do everything he can, privately and publicly, to help bring about Dewey's nomination and election next year. Certain AFL officials are convinced this is true, and they are somewhat nervous at the thought that Lewis means to attach the federation to the Dewey comet in '48.

This can be laughed off, of course, as merely a political flying saucer—an emanation of Washington's heat. But when you examine the political consequences of the deal that Lewis engineered with Benjamin F. Fairless of the United States Steel Corp., it does not sound quite so laughable.

No. 1. Lewis becomes the outstanding chieftain of organized labor. He got more for his men, both in pay and in benefits, than any other leader—and without a strike. That will add immeasurably to the political weight he can pull next year.

No. 2. By circumventing the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, Lewis has made the authors of that act look rather foolish. Those qualified to know say that under the Lewis contract the penalties against wildcat strikes cannot be enforced against the mine workers. This certainly does not enhance the prestige of Sen. Robert A. Taft, who is Dewey's rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

Considered against the background of recent history, the deal seems even more extraordinary. At the time of the UMW coal strike last winter, the operators were indignantly demanding that the government stop coddling Lewis. This was a frequent line of attack directed against Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug, administrator of the mines under government operation, even after Krug went into federal court to enjoin the strike.

—WELFARE FUND DOUBLED—

Only a few days before the government gave up the mines on June 30, the operators were insisting that they would never approve, in a union contract, the kind of health and welfare fund that Krug had okayed. Yet, in the agreement just signed, the operators agree to double the welfare fund.

When the government surrendered the mines, there was $22,000,000 in the fund. Under the new contract, an estimated $60,000,000 a year will be provided to cover health and welfare provisions.

By the terms of the Taft-Hartley law, this fund will be administered by a board to be made up of one union representative, one management representative, and a neutral person to be agreed upon by the other two. The strong likelihood, given Lewis's skill and ruthlessness as an operator, is that he will have a lot to say about the use of that fund. And, as the saying goes, $60,000,000 a year ain't hay.

One of the ironies is what happened to the southern operators. Southern congressmen went along with the backers of the Taft-Hartley bill, but when Lewis got ready to deal, he kept the Southerners waiting outside his door until he had the terms he wanted from the big boys in the North. The law, as some one once observed, can't make over human behavior in a day.

French pronunciation to Audubon, surname of the great ornithologist and painter?—M. H.

Answer: John James Audubon (1785-1851) was born in Haiti. His father was a Frenchman. He came to America in 1803. He accepted the Anglicized pronunciation of his name as: AW-duh-bon.

Peoria: When one plays the game of tenpins why is one said to bowl? I've never seen a bowl at a bowling alley.—E. A.

Answer: This is a different bowl from, say, a sugar bowl or the Rose Bowl. The bowl of bowling comes from the French word boules, "a ball," from the Latin bulla, "bubble."

Beverly Hills: In the opening of the second act of "Pinafore," Captain Corcoran melodiously laments that everything is "at sixes or at sevens." I know what it means, but why does it mean it?—H. W. H.

Answer: "At sixes and sevens" means "in disorder or confusion." For years I have sought the origin. My earliest reference is "Proverbs," by John Heywood (in the 1500's): "Set all at sixes and sevens. Chaucer used the expression, and so did Shakespeare and Goldsmith. The only explanation I have found is this vague comment in the New Century Dictionary: 'Originally from an expression used in dicing.'"

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler

LIFE IN A SAUCER—Although we have not been pledged to secrecy in our knowledge of the "flying disk" or "flying saucer," we feel some hesitation in revealing that for a short time last Sunday afternoon we had a brief ride in one of them. The circumstances surrounding that experience are unbelievable. While picnicking near Fayette that afternoon we had wandered into a nearby field where wild strawberries grew. We had a paper cup half-filled with the berries when we heard a strange wailing, unearthly as the sound made on a musical saw or a singing radio commercial. The sound came from behind a clump of screening cedars and before you could say "flying saucer" a figure pushed through the cedars and stood revealed in the bright sunlight.

JUSTUS PLUVIOUS—The legs and feet of the figure—all four of them—were encased in what appeared to be cellophane. The body resembled that of a man except there was no head or arms, and the unwinking eye, located in the umbilicus, was the size and color of a cold boiled potato without gravy. Where the head should have been there was only a mass of blue spaghetti-like tendrils that waved in the wind. One of the feet, marked "Western Hemisphere," raised itself off the ground and a high-pitched sing-song voice said:

"Hi Bud. Come with me, for the carriage awaits without."
"Without what," we asked.
"Don't be funny," said the voice peevishly. "You're going for a ride." As it spoke an atomic ray gun popped out of its spaghetti and aimed at us. "Come," the gun waved threateningly. The figure turned and began to walk around the cedars and we followed because the gun was still pointed at us. When the feet were lifted to step over a log we saw where the voice came from. There was a mouth in the bottom of each foot. And on the back of the figure in raised letters that flashed like a neon sign over a tavern were the words "Justus Pluvius."

THE INVISIBLE INFRA—Still clutching the paper cup and the strawberries we followed hesitantly. There on the other side of the cedars was a flat, dish-like silvery colored contraption about 20 feet in diameter with a center area raised about three feet. It resembled a saucer with half an egg shell in the middle.
"A flying saucer!" we exclaimed. We turned to run, but there was a sudden dull thud, the sound of a falling body and a feeling as if we were whirling through space.

ATOMIC MUTATIONS—Regaining consciousness we found ourselves reclining on a plastic-like yet soft floor that was the bottom of the "flying saucer." Near us, with all four feet working the controls, was Justus Pluvius. Below, through the floor, could be seen the rapidly changing map-work of the earth over which we skimmed at terrific speed.
"Did anyone ever tell you that you looked like your mother had been frightened by a comic book?" we asked idly.

The foot marked "Western Hemisphere" relaxed on the controls.
"So you're awake, Mayor Coon."

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Honolulu—Fighting planes and ships spread fanwise through the Phoenix Island region today in a determined search for Amelia Earhart, now missing for six full days.

The executive committee of the Upper Peninsula State Fair met yesterday at the office of Secretary R. C. Pryal to approve plans for the exposition to be held in Escanaba August 10 to 15.

Three Escanaba Scouts, James Nyberg, Charles Thatcher, and Robert Olson are having a grand time at the National Jamboree being held at Washington D. C., according to Olson, Scout reporter in a story received from the capital yesterday.

Twenty Years Ago

Indianapolis—An air of expectancy today provided artificial respiration to interest in the D. C. Stephenson "expose" of corruption in Indiana.

Paris—Commander Richard E. Byrd tonight boasts citizenship of at least three cities in the world. Both Dunkirk and Calais conferred this honor on him today and the people of these ports paid their tribute in an appreciative manner.

M. E. Atwood of Caro, owner of a unique mechanical-chamber device for locating deposits of oils and other minerals, will come to Escanaba today to give a demonstration of the efficiency of the machine.

Paris—"Vegetarian" weddings are being encouraged by the French Society of Vegetarians. They have organized a series of functions where young lovers of vegetables can start their courtships.

Justus chuckled from all four feet and his boiled potato eye winked. "When we reach the Jupiterian master technician you can repeat that crack. He has more atomic transmutations than I have."

"I'm not Mayor Coon."
"What! Who are you, then?"
"One of the Rack Coons from an old Southern family," we quipped.

We asked him why he wanted a mayor, and Justus explained that he and other atomic transmutes from Jupiter had been sent out on a scouting expedition to Earth to gather data for its plastic surgeons. The surgeons were planning a series of mass operation on the Jupiterian transmutes to make them more beautiful and in the likeness of earthlings. They particularly wanted models who were noted in public life, including mayors, presidents, deputy sheriffs and car salesmen. We said we worked for a newspaper.

By this time we were skimming over California at an extremely high altitude, and we mumbled something about models such as Gregory Peck and Dorothy Lamour. Justus asked if they were deputy sheriffs and we said no, deputy stars.

"Never heard of them," he said shortly. "and the master technician won't want you, either."

STRAWBERRY RASH—The "flying saucer" whirled suddenly in its course and headed back toward Michigan. Justus grew hungry and with one foot nibbled at a concentrated energy pill that flashed different colors. Red was meat flavor, green was celery or string beans, pink was strawberry ice cream.

"Strawberry is my favorite," he said.
"Have a real strawberry," we said, holding out the paper cup.

"Well, just one or two," he said. "I always get a rash," he explained. He took one in his toes, curled them under and nibbled

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—A friend visiting President Truman recently remarked on a portrait of Benjamin Franklin over the door of his study. The president, who has got himself into quite a controversy with art critics over his condemnation of the State Department's modern art exhibit, looked at the portrait appraisingly and explained.

"De Gaulle sent it to me. Probably he took it from some French Art collection and I suppose it really ought to go back to a Paris museum where the French people could enjoy it. Must be worth $100,000. A woman who was in love with Franklin in Paris had it painted while he was ambassador there."

"Mr. President," replied the friend—and he happened to be a friend who had known the president well before he became president—"Franklin was not only a great man, but a very human man. When you look up at that portrait I know that some of his qualities will be passed on to you and the American people will be the better for it. So don't send it back to a French museum."

"MAN IN RED HOUSE ON R STREET"—Believe it or not, but John Monroe, famous "Man in the Red House On R Street," who entertained admirals, generals and senators to help get war contracts, is back at work lobbying at almost the same old stand.

Three years ago this column revealed the amazing manner in which Mr. Monroe was able to inveigle big shots into his drawing room, even including Secretary of the Navy Knox, thereby impressing war contractors with the wires he could pull in Washington.

Following this revelation, Mr. Monroe sued this column for $1,000,000, lost his suit after the jury was out only twenty minutes, and some time later was convicted of black marketeering. He was sentenced to two years in jail. However he is still out on appeal, and while justice grinds slowly, Monroe is making the most of the delay by opening another Washington office under the imposing name "Advice, Inc."

Advice, Inc., is located in one of the capital's respectable, but somewhat tarnished residential districts, now made less fashionable by the westward sweep of the city. This time Monroe has moved up a couple of letters in the alphabet from R to N street and has converted his rented house into a dignified, somewhat stuffy office, furnished with well-worn antiques.

Monroe has also taken out a certificate of incorporation which gives his firm these high-sounding functions: "To act as consultants on all business matters; to act as consultants on legal matters; to engage in research and development; to engage as consultant to townships, cities, municipalities and states; to act as manufacturers' sales representatives; to represent chambers of commerce and any and all other business organizations; to represent banks and insurance companies."

In fact there is almost nobody that Monroe and his associates do not represent themselves as able to represent. Nowhere in the certificate, naturally, is there any hint that Mr. Monroe may not be able to continue to give "advice" very long—due to his impending jail sentence.

—EXPANSIVE MR. MONROE—

When an investigator for this column called at the office of Advice, Inc., he was met by a gentleman who explained "my name doesn't matter," but who turned out to be Mr. Monroe himself.

Mr. Monroe then explained that his firm conducted business mostly with foreign governments (he once tried to sell rifles to the Dominican Republic and Greece); that the firm occupied three buildings in Washington (he avoided giving their addresses); that it employed a staff of 117 mostly experts (two stenographers were the only staff in evidence); and that this was an old established firm founded 12 years ago (the certificate of incorporation shows it was founded May 31, 1945).

Monroe named as president of the firm, Col. Harry Cooper, former provost-marshal of the India-Burma theater under General Stilwell. The certificate of incorporation, however, shows that three trustees are authorized to manage the company: John Monroe, Melvin T. Kane of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Edward T. Buxton of Washington.

When a subsequent interview was arranged with Mayer T. Sawyer, the lawyer who signed the incorporation certificate, Harry Cooper, having been tipped off by Sawyer in advance was eagerly sitting in Sawyer's office awaiting the investigator. Obviously, the members of Advice, Inc., were getting worried at the possibility of publicity. In fact, Colonel Cooper was fuming.

"What is behind this investigation?" he stormed. "If you're not careful I'll turn you over to the FBI!"

"There's no law against asking questions," replied the investigator.

Mr. Cooper, who once worked for the Secret Service, and knew better than to attempt intimidation, agreed that that was right. He then calmed down, but remained highly uncommunicative. Asked what job the famous John Monroe occupied with the firm, Cooper replied:

"He's only a salesman. His standing with the company is very insignificant."

Apparently Colonel Cooper forgot that Monroe, one of the foremost lobbying fakes in Washington history and now facing a jail sentence, is listed as one of the three "trustees" authorized to manage Advice, Inc.

The European situation is full of angles and promising prosperity around all those corners can run into dough.

Guard Little Tots At Beach, Parents Advised

Art Peterson, senior lifeguard at the Escanaba bathing beach, yesterday cautioned parents of youngsters under the age of six and particularly little tots only two or three years of age to accompany their children to the beach and to watch them closely while they are bathing or wading. Although there are competent lifeguards on duty during bathing hours at the beach, the hot weather of the past few days has brought out hundreds of bathers and swimmers. Under such conditions it is extremely difficult if not impossible to watch the little tots along the water edge. Peterson explained that children two, three or four years of age occasionally fall forward in the water and because their arms are so short they are unable to push themselves out of the water.

U. P. Teachers Hold Reading Conference

Over 100 Upper Peninsula teachers and school administrators are attending a reading conference being held at Northern Michigan College of Education July 9 through July 11. Highlight of the opening session was a lecture by Dr. Helen K. MacIntosh, specialist with the U. S. Office of Education, Washington.

Built along the theme, reading for content, the conference was presided over by George E. Weinberger, superintendent of schools, Rock. During discussions of reading for content at the various grade levels, the educators heard Russell Thomas of the English department at Northern, F. L. A. Flaubert of the social studies department at John D. Pierce school, Olive Fox and Dr. W. C. Hoppes, director of student teaching at Northern.

Mary Hedberg, Escanaba teacher, presided at yesterday's conference sessions at which Miss Mary McCarthy, assistant librarian at Northern, spoke on "The Significance of Books." In the afternoon Thursday, various Upper Peninsula teachers demonstrated teaching of reading after which Dr. MacIntosh lectured on "Reading to Serve National Needs."

At special problems conferences conducted yesterday afternoon students of the summer session at the college acted as recorders, among them Miss Mary Hedberg of Marquette, John Harvey of Iron Mountain and Mrs. Bernice Johnson of Menominee.

Last night a dinner panel discussion on "the relation of competence in reading to personality development" was conducted by Howard Lamb, acting director; Miss Catherine Call, psychologist, of the Upper Peninsula Children's Center; Miss Maude VanAntwerp, associate professor of education, and Miss Esther Belcher, of special education division of the state department of public instruction. Final topic on the agenda, "Remedial Program Needs," will be aired this morning followed by a speech on Reading to Serve World Needs by Dr. MacIntosh and a summary of the conference by George Gilbert, supervisor of the state department of public instruction.

"Flying Saucers" May Be Images Of Plane Dials

Washington (SS)—Aviators reporting "flying saucers" may have been fooled by images of the dials on the instrument panels of their own planes. There are two ways in which this could happen.

Sometimes the sloping windshield of a plane reflects the dials as in a mirror, though less clearly. An imaginative pilot, especially if he is a little tired, might easily interpret those reflections as flying disks out ahead.

The other kind of self-deception might occur when a pilot finds it necessary to look fixedly at a dial, even for a brief period. This produces an after-image on the retina of his eye, which will seem to be projected on the sky when he looks up again. He could easily mistake a dial for a disk.

U. P. Presbyterians Meet In Escanaba

At a meeting of over 75 representatives of the Presbyterian church in Upper Michigan at the First Presbyterian church here Wednesday, announcement of a doubling of the Mission budget for Upper Michigan and a three-year life movement was made.

The life movement, explained by Rev. N. U. McConaughy, moderator of the Michigan Presbyterian Synod, is to inject new vigor into the church through increased membership and strengthening of existing organizations.

This was the first business meeting of this kind in the Upper Peninsula, it was announced by Rev. James Bell, pastor of the Escanaba Presbyterian church.

Following the afternoon session and preceding the evening meeting, the ladies of the church served dinner for the visiting pastors and leaders of the churches.

Advise Vets Against NSLI Cash Payments

The Veterans Administration yesterday advised World War II veterans in Upper Michigan to pay their G. I. insurance premiums by draft, personal check or money order rather than direct cash remittances.

Remittances by draft, check or money order should be made payable to the treasurer of the United States. Veterans may make insurance payments to any authorized VA collection office, including the sub-regional U. P. office in Escanaba.

OLD MINE MAY BE REOPENED

Beta Property Being Explored At Iron River

Iron River, Mich.—An exploration which may lead to the reopening of the Beta mine in Iron River city 40 years after the last ton was lifted to the surface is now underway just off US-2 on W. Adams street near the western end of the straight-of-way beyond the M. S. McDonough home.

The exploration, first in the district to follow passage of the Lindquist bill by the legislature exempting newly discovered mineral bodies from taxation for a 10-year period, is being conducted by the Mineral Mining Company.

F. E. Brown of Iron River, range manager of Mineral Mining Co. properties, expressed hope that the drilling will result in reopening of the Beta mine and said his firm has contemplated the drilling for some years but hesitated to being the project until the Lindquist bill lightened the tax burden on reserves the drilling is expected to reveal.

Contract To Odgers
The drilling contract has been awarded to Ira Odgers, Crystal Falls diamond drill contractor, who has a crew of several men now engaged in setting up the drill rig. Odgers will maintain two shifts of three men in each shift on the drilling.

Brown said that a series of holes will be drilled but he said it is impossible to predict how many will be needed or how long the project will continue. He said his firm is reasonably certain that considerable ore exists on the property, and the drilling is undertaken in an effort to locate a concentration of ore and to trace a connection of the known formation with the adjoining Bucholtz property.

The entire property consists of seven 40's of land. The four 40's on the west constitute the Bucholtz mine. The middle two 40's are the old Nanaimo mine, earliest mining property in Iron River, and the east 40 is the Beta where production prior to 1908 was supervised by Brown's father, the late E. F. Brown.

65 Years Ago
The Nanaimo mine was opened in 1882 by the Nanaimo Mining Co. and it was taken over by the Mineral Mining Co. in 1903. The Beta shaft was located on the north side of the property near the present site of an old Beta stockpile.

The Mineral Mining Co. owns the Bucholtz property outright, including mineral fees and surface rights, has a lease on the Beta and Nanaimo properties and owns part of their mineral fee.

Masonville Woman Writes Jingles And Wins Prizes

Rapid River, Mich. — Jingles, which she started writing ten years ago, as a hobby, have brought Mrs. N. J. Van Dorn of Masonville, awards ranging from a 100 pound bag of chicken mash to valuable radios.

Mrs. Van Dorn, who was born in Rapid River, and who is the former Clara James, has been a semi-invalid for the greater part of her life. She busied herself for many years, making artificial flowers, for which she found a ready market.

Her first attempt at writing jingles in advertising contests met with such success that she decided to devote all her spare time to that hobby. Her awards have included, aside from cash prizes, seven radios, men's shirts, magazine subscriptions, a wrist watch and a variety of smaller awards.

New York Business Men Questioned In Slaying Of Actress

New York, July 10 (AP)—Two business men, quizzed by police 24 hours in the strangulation death of Mrs. Sheila Manning, blonde actress, were released late today after being directed to appear before a New York county grand jury next Wednesday.

One of the men was identified by his attorney as Jacob Rosen, 60-year-old textile manufacturer. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan gave no reason for the grand jury subpoenas, nor did he name the men.

The case which broke yesterday with discovery of the nude body of the attractive 49-year-old actress in her modish West 57th street apartment.

Mother Is Accused Of Drowning Crying Baby In Wash Basin

New York, July 10 (AP)—Mrs. Etta Gelman, 28, wife of a city health department inspector, was arrested today on a homicide charge in connection with the drowning of her two-week-old baby girl.

Police quoted Mrs. Gelman as saying she held the baby's head under water in a wash basin at her home because the infant had been crying all morning and annoyed her.

Little Nations Have Something To Offer On Europe's Revival

BY TOM WILLIAMS

London, July 10 (AP)—A survey of European capitals disclosed today that many of the nations which will cooperate in the Marshall plan will come to the Paris conference Saturday with something definite to offer toward rebuilding the European economy.

The reports indicated that the delegations will go to Paris not merely to ask for United States dollars, but to state how far they can go toward organizing a program of self help.

The survey disclosed that the knottiest problem facing the economic planners will be—as it has been since the war—the shortage of coal.

British spokesmen were not explicit as to what the United Kingdom could offer. A foreign office source said the contribution would include machinery, industrial products and plastics. Britain could not supply coal or food, he added.

France could contribute iron, phosphate, Bauxite, potash, motor tires, manufactured products of various kinds including textiles, and mechanical equipment. France needs foodstuffs as well as industrial products.

Portugal—Needs coal, tinplate, copper sulphate, wheat, rice, fuel oil. Officials declined to disclose their contributions.

Eire—The Irish will emphasize they can make a very valuable food contribution, provided the country can get fertilizer and machinery.

Switzerland—Authorities were reluctant to discuss possible contributions or needs. Unofficial estimates said Switzerland would need in the first years of the Marshall plan 3,500,000 tons of coal, 500,000 tons of iron and steel, 200,000 tons of gasoline, 610,000 tons of feed stuffs, 517,000 tons of bread grains and 180,000 tons of sugar.

Sweden—Outside of coal the greatest need was manpower. The coal shortage is causing wide repercussions in the Swedish economy. Wood which could be used for pulp, paper and construction now goes for heating.

Norway—Qualified sources refused to discuss needs and contributions.

Greece—Despite an allocation of $150,000,000 for civilian needs from American aid, $50,000,000 in post-UNRRA help and $90,000,000 in exports, Greece is likely to call on the European economic pool for another $30,000,000. She will be able to export little.

Philadelphia Cabin Plane Crash Kills Prominent Socialite

Philadelphia, July 10 (AP)—An amphibious cabin plane attempting an emergency landing crashed into a northeast Philadelphia street tonight, killing Howard A. Perkins, 40, socially prominent head of a Wilmington, Del., construction company, and injuring three others.

Hundreds of residents of the Mayfair section of the city saw the plane swoop low and strike a trolley wire then plummet into a street intersection. No one on the ground was hurt.

A passenger was quoted by police as saying the plane ran out of gasoline while Perkins, son-in-law of Lamont Dupont, and his party were returning home from the Mounmouth Park, N. J. horse races. Pilot Martin Garson of New York suffered serious injuries.

Cards Appear Safe! Wrather Has Mad On

Los Angeles, July 10 (AP)—The latest proposal to "buy the St. Louis Cardinals and bring major baseball to Los Angeles" fell of its own weight today.

Movie Producer Jack Wrather, whose press agent yesterday announced such a proposal, came to bat himself today.

Apparently miffed that Owner Sam Breadon in St. Louis said he had never heard of him, the wealthy Texas oilman-film maker in a lengthy statement said that since the Cardinal boss had declared his club was not for sale, he would "investigate possibilities of purchasing another major league baseball team."

YANK RELIEF WINS WITH BAT

St. Louis, July 10 (AP)—Southpaw Joe Page, who has helped win plenty of games for the New York Yankees with fine relief hurling this season, won one with his bat tonight when he hit a ninth-inning home run to give the Bombers a 4 to 3 victory over the last place Browns. It was the league leaders' ninth straight victory.

Par Triumphant State Amateur Test

Port Huron, Mich., July 10 (AP)—Par stood back and chuckled here today as 191 of Michigan's best amateur golfers played their 18-hole qualifying rounds in the 1947 state amateur championship and only three bettered Black River country club's regulation figure of 36-36-72.

Harold Stewart, 30-year-old Pontiac representative who was one of the late starters, got in his links between showers and without going over par on a single hole captured medalist honors with 33-36-69, three strokes under par.

Roy Nelson of Detroit, a 32-year-old salesman who started playing golf when he was 10 years old and competed in the Michigan amateur as long ago as 1929 when he was 14, had 36-34-70, two under par, with four birdies.

Only other par-beater was 28-year-old N. K. (Nick) Weslock, 1946 Ontario open champion who moved to Detroit six months ago from Toronto. Weslock was two strokes over par after three holes and settled down to play the last 15 in three under par for his 36-35-71.

Attorney General
Has Car Troubles;
Sigler Takes Hand

Lansing, July 10 (AP)—Governor Sigler will step in in an attempt to solve the transportation troubles of his attorney general.

State Budget Director John A. Perkins has instructed Attorney General Eugene F. Black to return his state car to the car pool. Black has been using the car in trips between Lansing and his Port Huron home.

Perkins said the car was assigned to the attorney general's office has been in use by a deputy and Black's state car has been earmarked for executive office use at St. Ignace.

Sigler, however, has asked Perkins to delay his order for the return of the car pending an investigation.

San Luis Obispo Calif., July 10 (AP)—A search extending to the Mexican border was pressed tonight for handsome, middle-aged Morley V. King, wanted for questioning in the trunk murder of his 48-year-old wife, identified as a former Portuguese countess.

Mrs. King, strangled with a man's woolen scarf and her body stuffed into a trunk, had been dead for a week or more when found yesterday morning under the annex of a hotel where her husband operated a dining room. King disappeared 30 hours earlier.

From New Orleans newspaper files came accounts identifying Mrs. King as the former Comtesse Christiana De Zohebe, widow of a Portuguese count killed during the first World war.

However, from papers found in King's hotel rooms and marriage papers issued under a state department license in Casablanca, French Morocco, in 1930-31, her name was given as Nitsa D. Solomanius.

FLYING DISKS MAY BE BIRDS

Washington (SS)—Some of those flying saucers may be birds. This would be most likely in the case of ground observers, particularly when only a brief observation is possible because of obstructing buildings and trees.

Small birds in flight do not flap their wings continuously, but beat them rapidly a few times, then dart through the air for a short distance with the wings folded close.

In the latter phase of flight, birds could easily present disk-like silhouettes. Impression of high speed can easily be given by birds or other flying objects flying at moderate speed but much closer to the observer than he thinks they are.

Proof of the pudding of theory comes in the dish of experience. As the writer of this item sat before his typewriter, with an open window on his right, two disk-like objects moved swiftly across the margin of his vision. Looking up quickly, he saw them sprout wings and beat them rapidly for another spurt. English sparrows.

A few minutes later, two swifts or swallows were visible higher up, swooping and circling in a stiff breeze against a background of pale clouds. At certain angles they also took on a disk-like appearance, even to an observer who knew perfectly well what they were.

CINCINNATI AND BOSTON DIVIDE

Boston, July 10 (AP)—Babe Young's second homer of the day, with one aboard, enabled Buddy Lively to give the Cincinnati Reds an even split with a three-hit 2-1 decision over the Boston Braves tonight before a 27,455 crowd. Young belted his sixth homer of the season during the afternoon contest which the Tribesmen won, 6-4 with Tommy Holmes bashing two consecutive four-baggers. Mike McCormick climaxed the Boston Braves' 16-hit attack by lashing out a two-on double in the eighth inning.

McCormick's game-winning clout was made against Harry Gumbert, who relieved starter Ken Raffensberger in the seventh, with Sebbly Sisti and Holmes on base. While bashing his third and fourth four-baggers of the season, Holmes accounted for four of the Tribesmen's runs.

Babe Young hit for the circuit for the Reds in the second inning off starter Red Barrett. Cincinnati 010 110 100—4 8 0

'Slim' McClelland, State's Best Known Fight Referee, Dies

Detroit, July 10 (AP)—Michigan's best known boxing referee, Elmer B. (Slim) McClelland, died today at the age of 59.

Third man in the ring for numerous title and top non-title fights, he was characterized by his decisiveness and refused to call a close headline fight a draw.

"Nobody can convince me that two men can fight for ten rounds and land hundreds of punches and still come out all even," he often said, although he sometimes called a preliminary bout a draw.

McClelland started his long career by chance in 1906, when he was called on to referee a boxing brawn at Cheboygan, Mich., in northern Michigan lumbering days.

After establishing a reputation there, he moved on to other lumber camps at Escanaba, Marquette, Houghton, Newberry and Alpena to call out the winners of bootleg matches, before the sport was legalized in this state.

Supt. A. C. Peterson Tells Of Coal-Gas Turbine Locomotives

An interesting report on locomotives in general and the new coal gas turbine type in particular was given before the Gladstone Rotary club this week by A. C. Peterson, superintendent of the Gladstone division of the Soo Line. His report came on the 40th anniversary of his association with the Soo Line, 28 years of which were spent in the mechanical end and 12 in the operational.

Types of prime movers used by railroads include reciprocating steam locomotives, steam turbines, diesel electric and electric and oil gas turbine or coal gas turbine, he said.

Touching on progress made in improving the efficiency of steam locomotives, Peterson said in 1917 it took 175 pounds of coal per 1,000 gross ton miles whereas in 1946 it took only 120 pounds. In passenger service in 1917 it required 19 pounds of coal per average train mile whereas in 1946 the amount required had been reduced to 15 pounds.

Diesel locomotives in service on Dec. 31, 1946 totaled 3,624 in comparison with a total of 2,864 on Dec. 31, 1945, an increase of 760, he said.

However, the steam locomotives still predominate for as of Dec. 31, 1946, diesels used only 4.56 per cent, electric 1.88 per cent of the total. Steam equalled 94.56 per cent. The total of all units was 33,275.

Peterson cited facts from a paper on coal, fire and gas turbine locomotives prepared by John L. Yellott, director of research for locomotive development committee, Bituminous Coal Research, Inc.

The first gas turbine locomotive was put into service in 1941 by the Swiss Federal Railroad, he pointed out. Since that time locomotives have been built and placed in operation in Great Britain and France. Two are now in process of being constructed in the United States.

Bituminous coal is still the cheapest source of energy for railroads and the coal gas turbine is expected to result in a big saving. Until now oil discovery has kept up with consumption but it is now becoming more expensive to find new oil. It is also becoming more expensive to mine coal. Both coal and oil will rise in price but modern mining machinery should aid in keeping the price of coal down, he declared.

This country will never exhaust its supply of liquid fuel for "science has developed to a point where any desired liquid fuel can be made from either natural gas or from coal." Should gasoline go up a few more cents per gallon it would be close to the point where it could be made economically from sources other than oil.

Of 37,571 locomotives in service 7,000 use heavy oil as fuel, the remainder use coal. Of the steam locomotives 2,000 of over 30,000 were built since 1931 and are classified as modern.

Gas turbines have their highest efficiency in cold weather, a definite advantage when more power is needed and the injection of water will provide the same efficiency in hot weather or high altitudes. This water during winter months can be used in the boiler for heating coaches.

Railroads spend a half billion dollars or 35 per cent of their purchases annually for coal and use 21 per cent of all coal produced.

The gas turbine was developed in 1930. Prior to that time an efficient compressor or high temperature alloys were lacking. Development of the turbo-jet power developed high temperature alloys and satisfactory compressors.

During 1944 the leading coal producers and coal carrying railroads undertook to establish a program to produce a coal fire locomotive when it had decided on a coal gas turbine.

It was agreed that pulverized coal would be used and companies were assigned to develop stokers. It was pointed out.

The coal is crushed and then placed in a pressurized storage tank. The coal is charged with air and when it is dropped into another chamber where there is no pressure the small particles explode and results in coal dust in form which is necessary for proper combustion.

The American locomotive proposed is a two-cab design; the Baldwin proposed a single unit arrangement, he said. The locomotives are to be 4,200 and 3,750 horsepower. Both are intended for high speed passenger train service. Train heating boilers will be provided to 6,000 pounds of steam per hour. It will carry 25 tons of coal, 500 tons of light oil for train heating boiler and emergency fuel and 4,500 gallons of water. In appearance they will look a great deal like the diesel electric, double ended with complete set of controls in each cab. It is expected these locomotives will be completed and road tested in 1948.

In Memoriam

To the beautiful memory of our dearly beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Sophie Nelson, who passed away seven years ago today, July 11, 1940.

We seem to see in the soft dim light

A face we loved the best; And think of her when the sun's last ray

Goes down in the far off west; We miss you no less as the time passes on

Than we did on the day of your going,

For absence can never close the door of our hearts

And the lamp of our love is still glowing.

Your heart was the truest in all the wide world;

Your love the best to recall, For no one on earth could take your place.

You are still the dearest of all.

Lovingly remembered by her husband and children Ole Nelson and Family.

Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber Of Commerce To Launch Membership Drive

The Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce will soon launch a membership drive. Initial plans for next year's membership roundup were discussed at a meeting of the directors Wednesday evening and a number of projects for the coming year were also given consideration.

Letters to members and prospective members are being mailed this week notifying them of the annual dues expected from them.

Reviewing the long list of achievements in the past year, Russell Watson, chamber president, said: "As one member remarked, 'I consider the membership in the Chamber of Commerce pays a large rate of interest in community service, personal contact, community betterment and civic pride.' I believe also that local business men in general feel the same way and will want to join with us in making Manistique and Schoolcraft county a better place in which to live."

Much Business Transacted
Numerous matters demanding immediate consideration, made it impossible to devote more than a short time to the coming drive.

First among the matters at hand was the decision to send a member of the board of directors to Superior, Wis., to confer with Mrs. Josie St. Andre, owner of the land on which the Father Baraga mission was located, and find out if possible, whether terms may be arranged so that it may become a recognized historic spot and cared for as such. This matter was discussed at a meeting last spring and the secretary was instructed to confer with the owner at that time but he received no response to his letter.

It was decided that Manistique will be represented in the beauty queen contest at the U. P. State Fair at Escanaba and that the Chamber of Commerce will aid in the promotion. A committee will be appointed by the president to take care of this project.

The directors voted to take immediate action toward renovating the sign at Deer and Chippewa streets calling attention to the Big Spring and Indian Lake State Park and for the construction and installation of signs at US-2 and M-94 and at Old US-2 at the junction of Highway 149 to serve the same purpose.

Complaints were registered regarding the condition of Highway M-94 from Hiawatha west and also concerning the tall grass along Highway US-2 between here and St. Ignace. The matters will be referred to the proper authorities.

Mother Of Newly Elected Pastor Dies In Indiana

Word has been received here from the Rev. Paul Sobel, of Kerkoven, Minn., pastor-elect of the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, here, that his mother had passed away in Indiana and that his presence at her funeral rites may cause a delay in his arrival here.

Rev. Sobel and family were scheduled to arrive here this coming week and he was to have preached his first sermon July 21. Whether this will mean a change in these plans he was unable to state.

HERE ON VISIT FROM CHINA

Missionary, Enroute To Finland, Guest Of Local People

Chinese Christians put their very souls into the plea when they ask "Give us this day our daily bread," or its equivalent in Chinese, for the acquisition of the bare necessities of life presents a grave problem to a vast majority of the Chinese people—Christian and pagan alike.

Miss Heelmi Sakari, a missionary of many years service in the Province of Hunan, China, inferred as much in a recent conversation here. Miss Sakari, here on furlough, the first she has had in 14 years, is at present a guest at the Otto Johnson home east of Manistique.

Miss Sakari states that the inflation that is sweeping that country has reduced the people of that most favored province of China to a state of discouragement and outright beggary. One can well imagine what state of destitution has been wrought when one considers that a certain unit of exchange, once on a par with the American dollar, has sunk so low in value that today the American dollar will buy 50,000 of them. People once in comfortable circumstances are now living in want.

The missionary states that while it is one of the objectives of missionary effort to assist these people, the effort to provide food and clothing has had to be restricted entirely to children.

Banditry, which had been vigorously suppressed in years when China was at peace, has now become rampant in the land and people above a poverty status run considerable risk going about unguarded.

Miss Sakari, prior to the war had seven assistants at the place where she is stationed, but during the arduous days of the Japanese invasion, she had to carry on alone most of the time. The Japs, however, did not molest the area where she worked. She spoke in highest terms of Chang Kai-shek and his regime and looked upon the Communist infiltration as trouble-making.

Although sent to China as a missionary from Helsinki, Finland, under sponsorship of the Finnish Lutheran church, the financing of her missionary effort since World War II has come from the American Foreign Missionary Society.

She expects to remain in America visiting friends in Upper Michigan and northern Minnesota until next fall, when she will sail for her native Finland.

U.S.A. Heggblom Files Petition For Congress

U. S. A. Heggblom, Detroit attorney, has filed his petition at Lansing for the Republican nomination for Congress from this district to fill the unexpired term of the late Fred Bradley.

Born in Schoolcraft county and a resident of Manistique most of his life, he bases his qualifications on a large degree upon his familiarity with the local district and its problems. Most of the signatures on his petition were signed by residents of Manistique and vicinity.

The primary will be held on Tuesday, July 29.

The average length of life of U. S. residents set a new high record of 66 years in 1945.

Normally about 60 per cent of Hawaii's money in circulation comes from her sugar production.

MISS REDEKER PASSES AWAY

Funeral Rites To Be Held Saturday
Afternoon

Miss Genevieve Redeker, a registered nurse, who during most of her life was a resident of Manistique, died early Thursday morning at the Charles Redeker cottage on Harrison Beach. She had been ill for the past six months.

Miss Redeker was born in Manistique on December 16, 1905 and attended local schools, graduating from Manistique high school with the class of 1923. Later she took nurse's training at the Glenview hospital in Cleveland, Ohio, and last worked here for Dr. Thompson in 1929. She was a member of the local Presbyterian church.

Surviving her are two brothers, Charles of Manistique, and Paul of Houghton; and a sister, Mrs. Gladys Bando, of Berkley.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the Morton Funeral Home with the Rev. J. D. B. Adams in charge. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Blinker Lights To Be Installed At RR Crossing

The grade crossing on Chippewa avenue, scene of a fatal crash a few weeks ago and of numerous mishaps in years past, will soon have a blinker light danger signal warning passing motorists of the approach of trains and of trains obstructing right of way.

Assurance of this improvement was given Leonard Mulhaupt, secretary of the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce Thursday, when, at the request of that body he sought to ascertain what is being done to lighten the danger menace at this point.

According to the information given him, the railroad company will provide the signal apparatus and the city and the state highway department will provide installation and maintenance.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, is the most easterly city of the North American continent.

Mrs. Frank Kritselis and daughters, Harriet and Ann Marie, of Sault Ste. Marie and Miss Helen Poulakos of Milwaukee are visiting friends in Manistique.

Mr. and Mrs. Dencil Young and Mrs. Ruby Derochy, 165 River street, and Mrs. May Goumont of Cooks left Thursday on a vacation trip through Wisconsin.

ON THE TARGET ANYWAY—As far as is known, there are no Robin Hoods or even a Friar Tuck lurking on the Escanaba municipal dock greensward or in the woods at the ski park, but Escanaba archers had a lot of fun, anyway, making with the bow and arrow during the Hiawathaland Festival. None here claim the mastery of an expert like Fred Bear, of Grayling, Mich., but they watched and learned — much. In this picture you see George M. Thompson inspecting a target on which the archers have the bullseye nearly surrounded. Working the cigar lighter at left is Carl Johnson and at his left—as luck would have it, the man you can't see—is Harvey Spade. He's just the fellow who won the meet.

Bums Keep Lead With Double Win Over Cubs

Brooklyn, July 10 (AP)—Ralph Branca boosted his victory total to 14 games, the last seven in succession, as he hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a double victory over the Chicago Cubs, 5-3 and 4-3 in 10 innings today, assuring the Brooks of holding the National league lead for at least one more day. The largest crowd of the Ebbets field season, 34,476, watched the games.

Branca was the starting pitcher in the first game but required relief help from Hank Behrman and Hugh Casey when the Cubs threatened in the ninth. Casey made pinch hitter Don Johnson bounce into a force play at second with the bases loaded to end the game with a 5-3 Dodger edge. Vaughan's pinch single in the tenth pulled the second out of the fire after Starter Ralph Taylor had blown a three-run lead. Carl Furillo's homer with two men on in the first inning routed Bob Chipman. But the Cubs tied the score in the eighth when Branca repaid Taylor.

The Sports Parade

BY JIM WARD

RAINBOW ALL-STAR—The little mining town of Negaunee, always a bustling sports community, will be a busy place the week of Aug. 11 when the Rainbow North-South all-star baseball game will be held there in commemoration of V-J Day (Aug. 14) and the Upper Peninsula all-star football game is staged there Saturday, Aug. 16. Incidentally, managers of North and South teams leading their respective divisions as of Aug. 3 will pilot the opposing squads. Players will be selected at North-South meetings Aug. 5.

ALL-STAR BASKETBALL—Personally, we are in favor of all-star games when they are within reason and season. The U. P. all-star grid game is a major attraction and hence, in our books, conducting it in the summer sports season is excusable, but one we can't see is an all-star basketball game suggested for Hiawathaland Festival time by one fan. If you can imagine corraling 10 cagers in an inside court and drawing many hundreds more perspiring fans indoors some hot night in July, and if you like the idea, then, brother, you can have it. You are welcome to take over the job of promotion right now. As it is, basketball pushes into the spring sports season. Any basketball all-star game should be played in March, the earlier the better.

BOSTON RED SOX TRYOUT—Among candidates at a recent Boston Red Sox tryout camp in Illinois were Harley Daigord, a third sacker, and Virgil Pizzala, a first baseman, both of Fayette, Mich. There were other lads from Pennsylvania, Indiana and other states. It was good to see two young athletes from nearby Fayette getting a crack at the big time.

CLOQUET INVITATIONAL—Among contestants in the Cloquet, Minn., Invitational Golf tournament, one of the best little meets held in the Gopher state, which is being held today, is Dr. Robert F. Berry, of Marquette, a three-handicap golfer with four successive Marquette club championships and the 1940 Upper Peninsula title to his credit. Berry is well on his game this season and is reported to be gunning for another U. P. title in the 1947 meet to be held in Menominee next month. Don Feller, Escanaba, will be the defending champion at Menominee. Other Marquette golfers in Cloquet with the doctor are Walter Johnson and Dr. Roy Bordeau, another U. P. tourney perennial.

LARSON PENS A NOTE—Friends of Charley Larson, former sports editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, will be glad to learn that Charley is doing all right for himself at the Grand Rapids Press, where he has been doing general news for some time. He is anticipating a visit to the old home town next month. Charley is the fellow who couldn't figure out how he could afford a trip to Europe in 1939 on a reporter's salary. Now it can be told! We didn't do it on a reporter's salary, but the old sock came in handy. We are indebted to Larson for sending us a clipping of Frank Karas, Escanaba recently named assistant athletic director at Ferris Institute, and accompanying sidekick.

CARD FROM KALAMAZOO—Dick Huston, Kalamazoo, writes in to say that he'll keep us posted on the activities of George LeBrasseur, Nahma's one-man athletic riot, at Western Michigan College of Education next school year. George apparently is one of those fellows who can do anything in athletics and do it well. Someone had to tell him how to put his uniform on at football practice last spring, and now he's slated for a varsity backfield berth come next fall.

Erickson, McCullough, Jorgensen. Home run—Furillo. Sacrifice—Stanky. Double plays—Merullo, Johnson and Cavarretta; Stanky, Reese and Robinson. Left on bases—Chicago 10, Brooklyn 5. Bases on balls—Chipman 2, Taylor 4, Erickson 1, Meyer 2. Strikeouts—Erickson 2, Meyer 1. Hits—Off Chipman, 3 in 1st; Erickson, 1 in 5th; Meyer, 2 in 3rd; none out in 10th; Taylor, 8 in 7th; Branca, 3 in 2nd; Wild pitch—Meyer. Winning pitcher—Branca; losing pitcher—Meyer. Umpires—Stewart, Ballantyne, Henline and Magerkurth. Time—2:35. Attendance—34,476 paid.

Chatham Station Is Testing Many New Garden Varieties

To encourage more vegetable production in the Upper Peninsula Robert F. Carlson horticulturist at the Upper Peninsula experiment station of Michigan State college, located at Chatham, is conducting many variety tests this summer.

A larger number of varieties of tomatoes, cabbage, snap beans, peas and lettuce have been planted at the station this year. All of these varieties will be shown to visitors at the annual Round-Up to be held on Friday, August 8, when the station is holding an open house.

Of particular interest will be the tomato experiments as further tests are being made to improve the Early Chatham, developed at the station several years ago. Carlson has planted several crosses of this early maturing tomato in an attempt to get an even earlier maturing tomato plant that produces larger fruit.

With a few commercial head lettuce producers in the Upper Peninsula getting into "big business" with large acreages, there seems to be great interest in lettuce. Near Newberry are at present two commercial producers growing three crops of lettuce annually on muck soil. They are finding a ready market for their product. In addition to the well adapted variety of Great Lakes, developed by Michigan State college, Carlson is testing two new varieties—Penn Lake and Early Great Lakes.

Several varieties of cabbage and cauliflower will also be shown under experimental test in field plots.

Fifteen varieties of sweet corn, ten varieties of snap beans and 11 varieties of peas are also being grown this year.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 16 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, sometimes with burning or stinging, sometimes with something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Have New Theory On High Blood Pressure Cause

London, (SS)—A new idea of the cause of high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, one of the major causes of death, is suggested by a report from four South African scientists to the journal, Nature, here.

Big, inert molecules that flood the blood circulation might be the cause. They might be molecules of protein or of sugars or of a combination of fat and protein.

Africans with pellagra started this idea in the minds of Drs. J. Gillman, T. Gillman, J. Mandelstam and C. Gilbert of the University of the Witwatersrand at Johannesburg.

These Africans and others who were not suffering from pellagra developed a condition called cytosiderosis. Large quantities of iron pigment were deposited in their livers. Big, inert molecules which could be traced because of their iron content, were found to leave the liver in the bile. They were then absorbed by the intestines and spread by the blood circulation.

The flooding of the circulation with these big molecules can result in a number of "extraordinary" reactions, the doctors found. Among these is hardening of the arteries.
